

3.11.2 Copyright Issues – Video and Other Multimedia Resources

Source: Student and Community Life Handbook 2018-19

Students of Wartburg Theological Seminary will adhere to all copyright rules and regulations in and outside of the classroom and seminary facilities.

Students are to be aware that “pre-recorded videos, whether purchased or rented, are [generally labeled] for home/private use only. Private showings are considered to be for a ‘normal circle of family and its social acquaintances.’ ” This would cover viewing of videos in your living quarters.

“All other showings of home videos – such as at church [or in a common area of the seminary] – are deemed ‘public’ and ‘subject to copyright control.’ Students cannot show “home/private use only” videos at group meetings, youth group gatherings, exercise meetings, or at fellowship sessions.

“The only exception [to ‘home/private use only’] is under certain, narrowly defined instances, referred to as ‘face-to-face teaching activities,’ which applies to full-time, non-profit, academic institutions only. Because of this full-time, non-profit status requirement Sunday schools and daycare centers do not qualify,” but classroom use at Wartburg Theological Seminary would apply.

For more information visit the Motion Picture Licensing Corp. web site at <http://www.mplc.org>.

Much of the information and the quotations are from an article written by Ginger E. McFarland, “Video Larceny: How Your Church Can Use the Power of Videos Without Breaking the Law” published in Leadership, volume 17, Summer 1996, pages 103-104 and available online at <http://www.ctlibrary.com/le/1996/summer/613103.html> [August 21, 2007].

Reu Library provides a photocopy machine for patron use, especially for copying or scanning articles from periodicals, newspapers, and other materials that do not circulate outside the library. Most materials are covered under U.S. copyright laws. As a general rule, it is legal to make one copy for individual use. Making multiple copies or distributing scanned materials via email or the common drive, such as for congregational or class use, is generally not legal. More extensive guidelines are available in the library if you have questions.